

Mr. Manoj Phene President

Dear Students, Faculty Members and Well-Wishers,

It gives me immense pleasure to extend my warm greetings to all of you for the academic year 2026–2027. I am delighted to share this message on the occasion of the publication of the college magazine, which provides a wonderful platform to showcase the achievements, creativity, talents and experiences of our students and faculty.

The JES Junior and Degree Colleges, established in 2009, have steadily grown with a vision of providing quality higher education at an affordable level. The Unit strength and achievements of our students reflect the trust and confidence placed in our institutions.

At JES, we believe that education goes beyond textbooks and examinations. Students are encouraged to participate in cultural, sports, literary, technical and co-curricular activities, enabling them to discover their talents, develop confidence and acquire skills essential for their future. The management and faculty continuously motivate students of both the Junior and Degree Colleges to explore new opportunities and strive for excellence.

The rapidly changing world requires students to develop not only academic knowledge but also communication skills, creativity, critical thinking, adaptability and technological awareness. At the same time, the importance of reading, books and libraries must never be forgotten. Technology should complement learning, while the habit of reading should remain an integral part of a student's educational journey.

Our well-equipped classrooms, modern computer laboratories, hybrid library, Gymkhana, sports facilities and auditorium provide an environment conducive to academic and overall development. The achievements of our students at various levels are a source of immense pride and inspire us to continue working towards higher standards.

I would like to congratulate the entire Magazine Committee for their sincere efforts in bringing out this edition. A college magazine is not merely a collection of articles; it is a reflection of the institution's academic journey, creative spirit and collective achievements. I appreciate the students, faculty members and everyone who has contributed their time, ideas and efforts towards making this publication possible.

I am confident that JES will continue to nurture responsible, skilled and confident young individuals who will make meaningful contributions to society. I wish the Magazine Committee and all our students continued success and hope that this edition will be a cherished record of the memorable moments and achievements of the academic year.
